IMPROVEMENTS IN TRENCH LIFE

"Waders" Are Unnecessary,
Says Sergt. Robertson.

DIFFICULTY IN COOKING

Has Been Attached to Bombing
School Behind the British Lines.

"We were all issued 'waders'—big rubber thigh boots—but the trench was so dry that it was almost unnecessary to wear them. I had them on all the time, though, as I had to go everywhere when on patrol, one place up to the waist," says Sergt. J. Louis Robertson, Arch. 15, No. 2 Company, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, in a letter just received. Sergeant Robertson's letter is most interesting and descriptive of conditions at the front. He writes:

"Up to the trenches again for us. We are in a different place from the one where we spent Christmas, a little to the left. We rose early one morning about 4 o'clock and reached here about eleven. We are in huts built very much on the Shorncliffe pattern, and are thus able to keep dry. There is much mud about here. Just now we are in reserve, and will work up to 2nd-line support and fire trench in due season. We always seem to move on Sunday, and yesterday was no exception. It was a beautiful day and almost warm, and after we got in we had the rest of the day to ourselves. They are very strong in aeroplanes about here. There were seven or eight up yesterday all afternoon observing for the artillery, of which there is a multiplicity in this vicinity. There is one big whooper about 500 yards behind us, and every time it goes off the whole hut jumps about, and rifles, jam tins and equipment flop down in showers. There are a lot of smaller fry, 4.7's and anti-aircraft about, but they sound like fire-crackers in comparison. The other day 18 aeroplanes crossed over on an expedition of some sort, and came back in half an hour. We have not heard yet what it was all about, though we get the papers every day.

"I am getting all the mail, but it comes rather irregularly. The Stars come in bunches of sixteen or so every week and a half, and the letters come in bunches, too. I have about thirty-five letters and parcels to acknowledge now, and don't quite see how I am going to do it."

"I was called away (while writing first part of letter), and soon after orders came to get ready to march up the line on a 'fatigue,' and this is the first chance I have had since to write, as we went into the trenches for four days, and in the succeeding four days" (Continued on page 4.)

"B" COMPANY DO TACTICAL WORK

Several Interesting Schemes
Worked Out By Men Studying To Be Lieutenants.

On Saturday last "B" Company of the C.O.T.C. spent the afternoon in rolling around in the snow of the McGill Campus, the result of the three hours' work being that the men learned how to take cover, this coming after many of the men had been put out of action for exposing too much of themselves.

After falling in at the Old High School, the Company marched up to the Campus, where a few minutes at company drill were put to good advantage. The men were then given a little practice in advancing under fire, and then some tactical plans on a small scale were tried out. One platoon took up a position somewhere in the vicinity of the Physics Building, while the remaining three platoons acted as an attacking force, two platoons developing a frontal attack, while the third brought in the decisive attack from the flank. This little scheme worked out to good advantage.

One platoon then took up a position in the hollow between the Engineering and Arts Buildings, while the remaining three platoons attacked it from all sides. After this scheme had been carried out, two platoons were given twenty minutes in which to take up a position, while the remaining two were to send out scouts and find out where the defenders were hidden, thence attacking the position. The two platoons in question took up a position and dug themselves in on the high ground behind the old Medical Building, expecting that the enemy would either come up by the road which ran around the reservoir or come up the university avenue, but (Continued on Page 2.)

HOW LIEUT. FIELD DIED

Definite confirmation of the death of Lieut. C. Val. G. Field, Sci. 17, and the circumstances of the occurrence were received in a letter from his mother recently. No full details were available, but it is known that the young Lieutenant went with wireless on the fatal 12th of January, when four Allied aeroplanes were brought down. "He was with Lieut. Cobbold, and they were seen to be badly hit, and fell at a little village called Beau-camps, five miles from Lille. The Germans signalled all intelligence to our lines; there was never any hope."

Lieut. Field had been transferred to the Royal Flying Corps only a short time before, and was looking forward to returning to qualify as a pilot. He was popular and active in college life, and his instant desire to go to the front on the beginning of the war was what would be expected from him.

EFFICACY OF PRAYER TO-DAY

Address Given On Day of Universal Prayer.

REV. W. W. CRAIG

Speaks to the Y.W.C.A. and
Y.M.C.A. Members in Strathcona Hall.

Those who were present at the devotional meeting held at Strathcona Hall yesterday morning and heard the Rev. W. W. Craig speak were much impressed and benefited by the address he gave on the use and efficacy of prayer, especially at the present time. The occasion was the day of universal prayer throughout the Associations of the world, Y. M.'s and Y. W.'s. Everywhere that the Y.M.C.A. is represented, yesterday was held as a day of general intercession, and the McGill Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A. held their meeting at 10 a.m. yesterday in the Strathcona Hall. After the opening by Mr. E. A. Corbett, secretary of the McGill Y.M.C.A., P. B. Common, the president, introduced the speaker.

Mr. Craig emphasized the need for prayer at all times, and showed how real prayer, which was to be of real help, must be beset with one or two very decided difficulties. First there was the intellectual barrier. That is to say, the modern atmosphere is one in which many things were against genuine prayer as being fanciful and unpractical. The sudden and complete shake-up in a young student's mind by the altogether changed surroundings into which he is thrown, makes it hard for that student to keep his mental and spiritual balance. There is an inherent desire for something to hold on to, some source of spiritual strength, and this is to be found only in sincere prayer. We are living in an atmosphere of intellect which denies the supernatural, denies that prayer can break in on the logical sequence of events, and this power is exactly what is implied by prayer, namely, the power to break in.

The greatest difficulty, however, is to attain to a state of complete faith in God, a faith which springs from belief. Let this be gained, and the effort of the soul will be not a futile one.

Mr. Craig spoke very eloquently and with great feeling, and in the brief time which he had gave an address of much power.

CHEMICAL SOCIETY.

The regular meeting of the Chemical Society will be held to-morrow afternoon at 5 o'clock. Mr. J. Stansfield will present a paper on "Liesegang Rings." All those interested are invited to be present.

OUR ARTILLERY IS NOW IN TOP PLACE

Pte. Bouthillier Tells of What Happened to Sniper; Cheery
French-Canadians.

The Canadian artillery is the match of any on the western front in the opinion of C. de B. Bouthillier, Arch. 16, who is serving with the 5th Canadian Mounted Rifles. Pte. Bouthillier relates just one incident in support of his contention. "The following which happened in front of the trench we were holding will show how good our artillery is," he says in a letter just received. "One of us noticed that some bullets seemed to be coming from a ruined house, and taking a look at it with a pair of glasses we noticed a sniper in a top window. We telephoned the artillery supporting us and fifteen seconds later a shell went through that window. You could see nothing but dust and bricks.

"I have just come back from the trenches where I spent 24 hours in the front line, having gone in to look over the ground before we take over the trenches," Pte. Bouthillier writes. "The regiment I was with was none other than Andy's old one (Andrew Cleghorn). It was good to hear the French-Canadians talk 'de la rue Ste. Catherine apres la guerre.' Met Lee Swathy (Sci. 15) who asked after you all. The winter is gradually drawing to a close, and the weather will be better by March and O.K. by April. We are not suffering any ill-effects so far from exposure, but always have a cold which I cannot get rid of. However, it might be much worse. Quite a number of the men have been sent to hospital in England but the worst of the winter is over so I ought to be able to stick the rest. We shall be in the trenches for some time, grub which is easily carried will be always welcome."

The Union Constitution

The Constitution of the McGill Union, which has been in such sorry need of repairs for so long, has now been thoroughly revised, and the amendments are printed elsewhere in this issue of McGill Daily. The members of the Union House Committee and others in touch with the students' social centre, have been at no little pains to place the obsolete Constitution on a businesslike basis to conform with changed conditions. When the present constitution was drafted, there was no Universal Fee, no representation of the Union in the Students' Council; in fact, no Students' Council at all. Imagine, then, the number of changes which it has been necessary to effect. The Amendment Committee has had to examine each section, paragraph, sentence and phrase, in order that no confusion might result, that everything might be up-to-date and put in serviceable form.

Among the provisional changes which have been made there are many which must prove of interest to members of the student body. Apart altogether from the routine amendments which must necessarily follow the new system of management of student affairs, there are numerous others which are bound to make for more efficient administration. Notable among these is the proposed change in the duties of officers. Admirable as was the composition of the original Constitution, the fact that the Vice-President should preside at the Union House Committee meetings seemed unnecessary. With the President in the chair at all meetings, more direct control of Union matters and a more satisfactory administration should result. The place of the Assistant Secretary-Treasurer in the system is definitely outlined. Only members of the University or past students of the University will be entitled to sit upon the Advisory Board, if these amendments meet with the sanction of the Advisory Board. The method of election of new members of the Executive and House Committee has been changed to conform with the universal ballot introduced last year. These are all questions which should be taken into consideration by students and discussed before the annual meeting of the Union, when they will be finally ratified, so far as the students are concerned.

One amendment (and a very important one it is) cannot be neglected. This is the fact that it has been necessary, through the apathy of the students, to reduce the required quorum at a meeting of the Union from one hundred to fifty active members. On more than one occasion this year it has been found impossible, even when questions of vital importance were to be discussed, to secure an attendance of a number of members sufficient to form a quorum. The Daily feels sure there are more than seventy-five or eighty-five students who still possess an interest in their Union, and hopes that its conviction will be borne out by discussion concerning the matters in hand. McGill men of this time are far too prone to regard the Union without any thought as to the undoubted benefits which the gift of Sir William C. Macdonald has conferred upon the student body.

Editorial Note

The undergraduates of McGill are to be given a chance this evening of giving a last farewell to the members of the Fifth Universities Company, which will soon leave for overseas service. It is to be hoped that the students will turn out in sufficient numbers to make the affair a great success. It is the students that are giving the Smoker, and it is up to the students to show that they are taking a little interest in the welfare of the men who are following so many of our fellow-students to the firing line.

SMOKER THIS EVENING.

McGill Union to Entertain Members of 5th Universities Company.

This evening at 8 o'clock the McGill Union will entertain the members of the 5th Universities Co. to a smoker. An excellent programme has been prepared for the occasion, and many old favorites will be put in an appearance again. Jimmie Rice will be on hand with his collection of favorite parodies. Also Dr. Thornton will give a talk on his experiences at the front. There will be several musical selections, and refreshments will complete the programme. Lots of smokers will be provided, and it is to be hoped that a large number of students will turn out for this the last chance that they will have of meeting the members of the 5th Company.

The programme is as follows: Freshman quartette; Jimmie Rice; violin solo by Presner; vocal solo by Hawthorne; male quartette; solo by they were mistaken, for the enemy came up McTavish street to Pine, the result being that the defenders had to abandon their fortified position and take up a new position facing the reservoir, where they held the enemy for some time until a few of the latter managed to get in on the flank and put the whole of the defenders out of action by enfilade fire. The company then marched to barracks again, the men bringing back with them part of the two feet of snow which had covered the ground of the Campus. The whole afternoon was spent very profitably as far as the men were concerned.

The men of "B" Company are now beginning to prepare for their certificate exams, which will take place in another three weeks.

MCGILLIANA

1—JOHN MACNAUGHTON, LL.D.

To give any comprehensive impression of the real John Macnaughton would require a volume and a Boswell. So many divergent characteristics combine themselves in the man and so distinctive is their blending that there is always the danger of over-accentuation or lack of perspective.

To the students of the Arts Faculty "John," as they delight to call him, is a familiar figure. Of slight, yet wiry form, crowned with a shock of grey hair, on which still shines the ruddy aftermath of his former color, he walks with a slight stoop from lecture room to faculty room seemingly abstracted and absorbed. But this is not the Dr. Macnaughton that has made his name famous in McGill and in Canada. Follow him as he enters a classroom and begins to lecture on one of his favorite subjects—and they are many. Examine closely his changed expression—the blazing keenness of the eyes—the face alight with fervour—moustache bristling almost to fierceness, and hands and arms waving in energetic denunciation or emphasis. Straight to the heart of his subject he goes, whether it be Virgil or Aristophanes, searching out the real meaning of the original and expressing it in English that is both lucid and masterly. Nothing passes without comment or comparison—all must be explained, be it the ancient method of farming, the classical scheme of the universe, or the modern counterpart of a Greek father-song. Not a dull moment from beginning to end, but who betide the man who is ignorant or inattentive. Like Jove's thunderbolt the lightning of his wrath descends, and the poor culprit lies flashed by the fire of his tongue. This is the Macnaughton of the book and the torch.

But what of the man himself? Dr. Macnaughton is a native of Aberdeen, Scotland, and came to Canada in 1900 at the instance of the late Principal Grant, of Queen's University. Educated at the Aberdeen Grammar School, he proceeded to Aberdeen University, where he secured his B.A. degree, and afterwards to Cambridge University, where he passed through a highly successful course, and received the degree of Master of Arts. Dr. Macnaughton also studied at the Edinburgh Theological College, at Heidelberg, and at Berlin. Ordained to the ministry of the Presbyterian Church in 1899, Prof. Macnaughton came to Canada in the following year to accept a chair in the Faculty of Arts at Queen's University. He remained there for a short time only, being appointed Professor of Classics at McGill. In 1904 Prof. Macnaughton returned to Queen's as Professor of Church History. Four years later he resumed his old position at McGill, and has since remained here. Dr. Macnaughton still retains a warm affection for Queen's, and preaches one of the University sermons there annually. In the spring of 1914 Queen's conferred upon him the honorary degree of LL.D. But all this printed book biography cannot depict the energy that must have been expended—the talent that was developed—so that the man as McGill now knows him has been evolved.

Of Germany and the Germans Prof. Macnaughton knows much, which he expresses forcibly on all possible occasions; in fact, no better example can be given of the impassioned oratory which is so marked in our inimitable Professor as his many public orations in explanation and condemnation of the people amongst whom he spent the final years of his university education. With a fluency of language, a wonderful power of phrasing and coining of expression, and an inimitable delivery, Prof. Macnaughton states in no uncertain terms his ideas on the present war crisis, leaving his hearer with a feeling that, even yet, were he to handle a bayonet or lead a charge the Germans would scatter like chaff before the wind. Here is a comparison of Bismarck and Machiavelli that shows the characteristics of Macnaughton the orator: "Bismarck," he said on one occasion, "is a folio edition of Machiavelli, bound in Prussian pigskin with clasps of iron, and capitals of blood." This same method, indeed, is seen in all his public utterances. Once warned of his subject he sweeps the field of his adversaries, concluding always with some striking peroration, a shake of the head, and a lurking smile that betokens almost childlike pleasure at the masterpiece he has evolved. In fact, that smile of "John's" is peculiarly his own. It breaks out in the classroom, when an exceptionally neat translation has been made,—it positively covers his whole face when in conversation a neat retort or comparison flows out to the world.

Of his erudition, no one who has ever studied under him has anything but the highest admiration. An instance will perhaps best show its length and depth. In the space of one lecture he contrasted Charlotte Bronte and George Eliot as stylists, he spoke in general terms of the merits and frailties of woman writers, quoted some forty or fifty lines of Browning, concluding with a discussion of the influence of Greek ideals on the Apostle Paul. This wonderful record was achieved, too, in the intervals of a lecture on "The Clouds" of Aristophanes. His memory, indeed, must be prodigious, for without effort he can quote passages from the poets, and especially from Shakespeare, giving always the exact place where the quotation can be found. Perhaps, however, the most striking feature of Prof. Macnaughton's genius is an almost uncanny power of divination, if the term may be used. He files in a moment to a conclusion which most other men could only reach by a devious route.

It is, indeed, a species of intuition, which jumps over intervening stages in a bound, yet arrives always on safe and sure ground. In this attribute, perhaps, lies the greatest charm of his learning, as, indeed, it was in his famous compatriot, Lord Kelvin.

There yet remains Macnaughton the conversationalist. A month or so ago a well known graduate said that he was almost afraid to converse with Prof. Macnaughton in case by any chance he should contradict him. This, indeed, may seem a strong statement, yet it stands as a proof of the earnestness of the tones of the man when he engages in serious conversation. It was, indeed, a common sight in the earlier days of the war to see Prof. Macnaughton clutch his companion's arm with a firm grasp in order to impress a point; in fact, on one occasion, he has been known to shake the coat lapels of the listener with unknowing vehemence. In conversation, too, appears in its fullest bloom the power of striking phraseology and comparison. So well known is this that it is unnecessary to quote instances. One last outstanding feature seen especially in Macnaughton the conversationalist is his absolute freedom and candour in the expression of his opinion. A spade is always a spade wherever or whenever it is used, perhaps it even gains an epithet if the occasion or the earnestness demand it.

This is the head of the classical department of McGill University as seen through eyes perhaps biased in his favor, because they have seen him often and admired him much. No one indeed can associate long or closely with Prof. Macnaughton without coming under the spell of his personality. He drags out the best that is in a student if there is anything to drag; he leaves in the heart of budding classical scholars a sense of awe at his learning, and shame at their ignorance, while above all he impresses on those whom he meets an indelible and unmistakable picture of a man; to those who know him but slightly he may seem a trifle erratic, but on closer inspection this becomes but over-impetuosity in a desire to reach the truth. There is one question which remains to be asked: "Why does he not rear for himself some piece of word architecture which will tell to those who come after of his genius and personality?" In other words, why does he not publish more on the printed page? The answer comes as from himself. He is writing on flesh and blood his ideas and his powers. Long after those who have been privileged to sit under him have gone out into the world of affairs, they will look back with pleasure to his teaching as they treasure in their hearts the picture of the wonderful smile on the face of the red-blooded son of the Celtic race, who impregnated their minds with a love of the real, because, like Achilles, he loathed a lie.

SUNDAY NIGHT "SING."

Special Features Will Be Introduced For the Remaining Three "Sings."

The weekly Sunday night "Sing" around the fire was held in Strathcona Hall last evening. A goodly number were present, and the evening was greatly enjoyed by all. Spending an hour around the fire singing the old favorite hymns has proved to many the best way of closing their Sunday.

For the remaining three "Sings," special features will be introduced to make them especially attractive. Announcement will be made through the columns of the Daily this week as to the nature of the diversion.

BACK TO FORM IN FAST GAME

McGill Seniors Swamp Westmount in Exhibition Game.

THE JUNIORS WIN AGAIN

Second Team Game Very Fast; Result Doubtful to Last Minute.

Displaying marked improvement in all points of the game, and playing the Westmounters off their feet, the McGill Senior Basketball Team won an exhibition game on Saturday by the score of 45 to 16. The regular league game was forfeited to McGill, owing to the fact that Westmount could not get five men on the floor. The exhibition game was arranged to take its place, Westmount playing their gym instructor, Mr. Miller. The game was about the most one-sided one McGill has engaged in this year. After the first eight minutes of play, McGill pulled away steadily, and were never headed. There was no particular star for the McGill squad, though Foss's playing was a surprise, when it is remembered that he has been out of the game lately on account of sickness.

At forward, there was little to choose between Pitts and Hartz. Pitts did the greater part of the shooting. Harry Ferguson was one of the features of the game. His passing, and his shooting, when he got up near the basket, were spectacular. Miller starred for Westmount. D'Arcy, who played ten minutes of the second half, worked hard, and improved the team wonderfully.

For the first few minutes of the game both sides had plenty of chances to score, but were unable to improve them. Hartz started the scoring by a beautiful one-hand shot. Turnbull scored almost immediately after. Westmount were missing many easy shots. Foss scored twice. Miller scored. McGill began to hit their stride but found the basket hard to locate. Pitts shot a foul. Pitts scored. Hartz scored. Upham was playing a fine game at this period. Westmount scored a foul. Upham shot what appeared to be an impossible shot from under the basket. First half score: 13-5 for McGill.

J. Ferguson replaced Upham for the second half. Schade scored. (Schade played a fine game, but found his smallness a big handicap.) Pitts scored. Harry Ferguson scored twice. Pitts scored two more. Westmount shot a foul. Hartz scored. D'Arcy replaced Schade. Pitts scored. D'Arcy scored. Foss's shooting began to improve. He shot three in succession, each time being covered by his man, but escaping. Westmount shot a foul. H. Ferguson scored again. Pitts scored. Westmount scored a foul. Pitts scored. Foss scored. D'Arcy scored. Hartz put two spectacular shots through the ring in quick order. Miller scored. Full time score: 45-16 for McGill.

The line-up:
McGill (45).
Pitts Forward Schade
Miller Forward Hartz
Magrane Centre Foss
Turnbull Defence H. Ferguson
Seaman Defence Upham
D'Arcy Spare J. Ferguson
The win by default on Saturday means that McGill are sure of either getting the championship or having to play off for it.

Juniors Also Win.

The Junior game was the more exciting of the two, because of its closeness. McGill held the lead most of the way, but lost it five minutes before time was called, only to regain it again and defeat Westmount 16 to 13. The score does not indicate the play. McGill had decidedly the better of the game at nearly all stages, though Westmount might have scored several times when a little good shooting was all that was needed. Davis and Loughery starred for McGill. Cowan did some very hard checking, but got up the floor a little too much. Campbell was Westmount's big man.

Davis slipped the first in short order when play started. Westmount scored two fouls. McGill got a foul. Loughery scored. Campbell found the basket for the first time after doing some really clever passing. He seemed to be a spot player who has one special shot that proves effective. Loughery scored another. The rest of the half dragged somewhat with both teams passing splendidly, but making a miserable failure at shooting. Westmount scored a foul. Half time score: 8-5 for McGill.

Clarke replaced Root in the second half. Both teams scored eight points in this period, which at once shows the good covering and the closeness of the game. Westmount started out well, Campbell scoring a long shot. Foul scored by Westmount. Davis scored. Cowan scored. Campbell got two in quick succession. Clarke scored. McGill began to tighten up. McGill scored a foul. Loughery and Campbell were banned for the rest of the game (three minutes) for scrapping. Root replaced Loughery. McGill scored a foul. Westmount scored a foul. Game ended. Score: 16-13 for McGill.

While this was the last game for the Juniors, it is most important that they show up at practices until after the Senior team play off, as good opposition is needed to keep the men in trim. A practice will be held on Tuesday at 6.45 p.m.

Pte. A. McLeod, '15, Killed; Eric Billington Loses Foot

ERIC BILLINGTON HAS LOST FOOT

Famous Footballer Wounded While Examining Shells.

DEVOTION OF LT. GIBBINS

News of Other Graduates Serving With His Majesty's Forces.

Eric Billington will play football no more. According to Lieutenant Peter Clark, of the Wiltshire Regiment, who was nearby when Billington was wounded, the latter's foot was blown off when he and Lieut. G. G. Gibbins, Sci. '10, were examining a number of unexploded German shells. Lieutenant Clark was billeted in the same village at the time. Lieut. Gibbins was not seriously injured.

Lieut. Gibbins' loyalty to his friend and comrade is strikingly brought out in the letter received from Lieutenant Clark, dated February 3.

"Gibbins got a few bits of fuse in his back and leg, and he's strolling about the clearing station a few miles from here quite chirpy," he writes. "He is a great deal more concerned about his friend, Billington, who had a foot blown off in the same accident. They had been exploding a great number of German shells to get them out of the way, and the fuse accident was an after-thing. Billington has just pulled through, in no small part due to the fact that Gibbins was allowed to stay up in the hospital during a critical 48 hours, even though incapacitated from his own wounds. . . . Billington is now out of danger, and can just talk. He told me Gibbins had offered to give any quantity of blood, if that could be utilized, but fortunately that was not necessary."

The following particulars of service have been forwarded to the University by Lieut.-Col. A. T. Shillington, Med. '94, A. D. M. S., Canadian troops, Bramshott Camp, England:

"I left Ottawa and went to Valenciennes on the 16th of August, 1914, where I took charge of the medical examinations of the 33,000 who came with the first contingent. Then on September 22, 1914, I took command of No. 2 Canadian Stationary Hospital."

"I landed at Salisbury with the first contingent, and on November 6, 1914, left for France with my unit, landing in Boulogne on the 8th. We were the first Canadian unit by a month and a half to land in France."

"On November 23, 1914, we opened No. 2 Canadian Stationary Hospital at Le Touquet, France, where I was commanding until November 22, 1915. On this date I left to come to England, where I was appointed assistant director of Medical Services, Canadians, Bramshott Camp."

"On June 23, 1915, I was mentioned in despatches by Field Marshal Sir John French for 'gallant and distinguished conduct in the field.'"

Now Captain Smillie.

Lieut. H. Maynard Smillie, past student, Agriculture '13, was gazetted on February 1 as captain, attached to the Headquarters Supply Column, of the Canadian Cavalry Brigade, now being organized in England. Capt. Smillie enlisted as a private in the Mechanical Transport Division, C.A.S.C., with the first contingent, and received his commission in August last.

Lieut. George H. Burbidge, Sci. '09, has transferred from the A. S. C. in Winnipeg to the 120th Battalion, Hamilton, Ont. He has been taking a special course at the Exhibition Camp, Toronto.

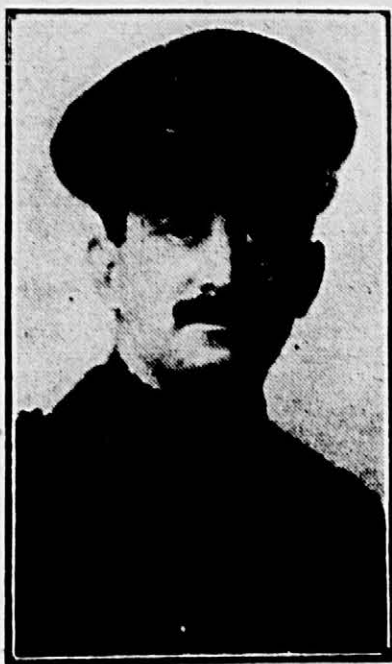

The "Guy Drummond" Chapter of the Imperial Daughters of the Empire, so named in honor of the late Captain Guy M. Drummond, Arts '09, has been organized in this city.

Yves Lamontagne, Sci. '15, has secured a commission in the Royal Engineers and has already joined his unit. Lt. Lamontagne left Canada with the Canadian Railway Construction Corps as a sapper. There are several other McGill men in the same unit who have been considered for service in France since crossing the Atlantic. At McGill he was chiefly known through his connection with the Students' Orchestra, being a 'cello player of no little reputation.

The Heavy Artillery reinforcements for Lieut.-Col. Minden Cole's brigade in England are leaving Montreal shortly. McGill men with this unit include Lieuts. E. Russell Paterson, Arts '09, and C. S. De Gruchy, Sci. '11.

Lieut. J. A. G. White, Sci. '11, is serving as an officer with the 1st Hussars, Second Canadian Divisional Cavalry.

Lieut. Bruce Ross, past student, is attached to the First Field Company, Canadian Engineers, in France. He trained at the Canadian Engineers' Training Depot at Ottawa last year. He has just returned to his unit in France after being on leave in England.

CAPTAIN D. M. MATHIESON, Science '07, Canadian Engineers.

Capt. Donald Milner Mathieson, Sci. '07, 4th Section, 2nd Field Company, First Divisional Engineers, C.E.F., has been awarded the Military Cross. Capt. Mathieson resigned his position as City Engineer of Vernon, B.C., when the First Canadian Division was raised and went overseas.

He was one of the officers with Col. Hart McHarg, 7th Battalion, C.E.F., and Col. Odum, and at the time Col. Hart McHarg was killed. Capt. Mathieson was mentioned in despatches. Capt. Mathieson is credited with having finished sixteen Germans with his revolver. He is a son of the late Dr. J. H. Mathieson, Med. '71, and of Mrs. Mathieson, now of St. Mary's, Ont.

Other McGill men who have won the Military Cross are Captain Hyman Lightstone, Med. '10, Royal Army Medical Corps; Captain Talbot M. Papineau, Law '10, P.P.C.L.L.; Lieut. Evan B. Hugh-Jones, Sci. '13, Royal Engineers, and Lieut. Hon. W. A. D. Parnell, Sci. '18, Grenadier Guards.

player and coach, has passed his officer's examinations at Toronto, and intends to become attached to an overseas unit as soon as possible. Lieut. McEwen at present holds rank in the 35th Regiment of Militia.

"Since" was considered to be the best quarterback in intercollegiate Rugby when he played on the McGill senior team. After graduation he was assistant to Frank Shaughnessy in the coaching of the senior team, and also acted as coach to the second team. Last fall he was coach of the Argonauts (Toronto) team in the Interprovincial Union.

Lieut. E. C. Little, Sci. '15, attached to the 51st Battery, C.F.A., has been transferred to the 53rd Battery, C.F.A. The name of Major G. V. White, M.P., Sci. '01, is mentioned in connection with a majority in the proposed Woodmen's Battalion.

Lieut. C. C. Graham, past student, who has been attached to the 51st Battery, C.F.A., has been transferred to the 53rd Battery, C.F.A.

Major Hamilton Gault, past student, who organized and served with the P.P.C.L.L., is returning to Canada on the steamer Rotterdam.

When the 50th Battalion, C.E.F., was organized at Calgary, Alta., Dr. E. G. Mason, Med. '02, who had always taken a great interest in military matters, was appointed Lieutenant-Colonel of the regiment which he recruited. "Mason's Men Eaters" was the title which the men adopted for themselves. Many of them are now on the firing line, and several have fallen, while the remainder are completing their training in England and will go to the front within a short time.

Ninety-eight per cent. of the wounded soldiers treated at the American Women's War Hospital have been cured or improved, according to a report just issued on the second thousand cases handled by that institution. The hospital is at Paignton, South Devon, with Sir William Osler, Med. '82, as consulting physician, and Dr. Penhallow as chief surgeon. The report shows that of the surgical cases 63 per cent. were cured and 33 per cent. improved. The same percentage of cures and improvements was secured in medical cases. In the thousand cases there were but five deaths, or considerably less than 1 per cent.

Captain W. B. Howell, Med. '06, has returned to Canada on the steamship Missanabie. Capt. Howell went overseas with No. 3 Canadian General Hospital (McGill).

Mrs. M. Scriver announces the engagement of her elder daughter, Annie, to Dr. D. E. H. Cleveland, Med. '14, of the Royal Victoria Hospital. Dr. Cleveland has received a commission in the R.A.M.C., and leaves shortly for England.

Major H. E. Munroe, Med. '03, has returned to Canada as medical officer in charge of wounded soldiers. He is to take charge of a hospital being formed in the west.

Norman C. Harris, graduate in Applied Science with 1910, whose home is in Victoria, Australia, has enlisted as second in command of the Fifth Australian Engineers, with the rank of captain.

Dr. W. Fred. Jackson, Med. '13, has enlisted and been accepted for military service with the rank of captain. He has been notified by the Minister of Militia to hold himself in readiness to leave for London, Eng., very shortly. Dr. Jackson has been practicing

PTE. ARCHIBALD McLEOD.

A year after he joined the colors, Pte. Archibald McLeod, Arch. '15, 24th Battalion, C.E.F., has been killed in action. Although Pte. McLeod was killed as long ago as February 10, the news was only received Thursday last by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth McLeod, 812 Shuter street. Pte. McLeod, who was extremely popular during his student days, was born in this city on November 18, 1888. He was educated at the Montreal High School and at Shortell's Academy, Montreal. He matriculated into McGill in 1911 and entered the class of Architecture '15, of which he was a member throughout. In his freshman year he was a member of the intermediate football team. Pte. McLeod was employed in a local architect's office for some time. Previously, he was connected with the Molsons Bank and the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Pte. McLeod was wounded on October 15 last and was invalided to England for several weeks. He was a member of Epsilon Phi Fraternity. In religion he was a Presbyterian.

A. C. G. McLeod, Sci. '12, now trainmaster of the Canadian Pacific Railway at Havelock, Ont., is a brother.

enlisted, is a native of Montreal. He has two brothers officers with the Canadian troops in France.

Dr. Kenneth Neilson, Med. '15, is at present at Moore Barracks, England, qualifying for his captaincy. He left with Mr. 3 Canadian General Hospital (McGill).

Lieut. J. H. McLaughlin, past student in Arts, is serving with the Army Service Corps at Shorncliffe, England. Lieut. McLaughlin enlisted at Ottawa a year ago and has since been stationed in England.

A report on the Rhodes scholarships of 1914 and 1915 shows that 167 scholars and ex-scholars, of whom 42 are Canadian, joined the Imperial army colonial contingents. Four have been awarded the military cross, including T. M. Papineau, Arts '04, Law '10, of Quebec.

Gunner Ham Johnson, Sci. '15, is gazetted temporary lieutenant in the Canadian Engineers.

Lieut. A. T. Fuller, Med. '01, is appointed temporary medical officer of troops on lines of communication, in succession to Captain S. A. Ross, Med. '09.

Second Lieut. Cecil Crosley, past student and well known as an athlete at McGill, who was killed in action at the Dardanelles, was mentioned in Sir Ian Hamblin's despatch of January 23 for conspicuous gallantry. Lieut. Crosley was with the Royal Irish Fusiliers, who did such good work at the Gallipoli landing. He was killed in action on August 16 last. Lieut. Crosley was intercollegiate heavyweight boxing champion in 1911-12, and also captain of the English Rugby Club.

Captain G. G. Corbet, Med. '08, who has returned to Canada, left with the First Canadian Division, and was with the troops during their stay at Salisbury Plain. Following their removal to France, he became attached to No. 11 Stationary Hospital, R. A. M. C., at Rouen, at the rear of the 3rd Brigade of Artillery. He remained there all summer practically. For six months he was at various points from Le Basce to Kemmel. Afterwards he was with No. 2 General Hospital. In October he suffered an injury to his knee and had to return to England.

Captain Clarence N. McCuaig, past student, and Mrs. McCuaig (formerly Miss Evelyn Woods), whose marriage took place in London, England, this month, have sailed on the steamship Rotterdam. Capt. McCuaig, with his bride, will stay while on furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence J. McCuaig, Mountain street.

Lieut. D. M. Morrison, past student, has been attached to the 154th Battalion, C.E.F., for duty and instruction.

Lieut. Edgar Loughheed, past student, will leave shortly for overseas duty with the Army Service Corps.

A London despatch to the Toronto Star says: "Col. Birkett and Major R. Wilson, Medical Training Corps, are transferred to the office of Director of the Medicals in London."

REV. BRUCE TAYLOR TO SPEAK.

On Wednesday afternoon, at four o'clock, the Rev. Dr. Bruce Taylor will address the Delta Sigma Society. His fame as a speaker is well known among the students, and all members of the Society are invited to come. This opportunity of hearing Dr. Bruce Taylor should not be missed.

GRADUATE OF '13 DIES IN SUMATRA

E. H. Pound Was in Service of the U.S. Rubber Co.

SEVERAL GRADS. MARRIED

McGill Men Named Councillors of St. John Ambulance Association.

Word has been received by Prof. F. E. Lloyd of the death of E. H. Pound, a McGill graduate of the class of Arts 1913. The details of his death are yet to be obtained, it being merely known that he met his fate on the Island of Sumatra while acting in the capacity of manager of the plantation laboratories of the U. S. Rubber Company. He died on January 23 last.

Mr. Pound was born and reared in Michigan. From his parents, who came to the United States from the Old Country, he received an early education of English ideals, which characterized the man. In his solid, staunch and manly attributes, he was typically English.

While an undergraduate in the University of Michigan, Mr. Pound became interested in the rubber industry. This led him to undertake extensive travels in South America and in Mexico. While on one of his explorations in the interests of the rubber trade, Mr. Pound journeyed across the South American continent, through Quito and down the Amazon.

It was after having made these extensive trips that Mr. Pound came to McGill to complete his technical training. Immediately upon graduating he accepted a position with the United States Rubber Company, recognizing his extraordinary ability, his integrity and his mature judgment, he was soon placed in responsible charge of the company's plantation laboratories in Sumatra, a position of great trust.

His keen intelligence, fine sensibilities and great loyalty marked him for a career of great success, unfortunately prevented by his early death at the age of 27.

The marriage took place on the 21st of February, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Allen, 133 Lasalle road, Verdun, of their youngest daughter, Clementina Ethel, to Dr. Arthur J. Martin, Med. '15, of the Montreal General Hospital, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Martin, of Ottawa. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. E. I. Hart, assisted by Dr. Smith, of the Wesleyan College.

The marriage was quietly solemnized in Winnipeg, on February 19, of Mrs. Fred. Morse and Dr. Egerton L. Pope, Med. '00. The wedding took place at the home of Major and Mrs. D. Ross, Wellington Crescent, Rev. E. Leslie Pidgeon officiating.

N. D. Johnston Married.

The marriage of Miss Madge Rainford Chubbuck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. D. Chubbuck, of Ottawa, to Mr. Norman Douglas Johnston, Arts '14, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Johnston, of "Sylvancrest," Westmount, took place on February 24th at Ottawa at the residence of the bride's parents. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Sparling, of Dominion Methodist Church. Mr. Johnston was formerly president of the Arts Undergraduates' Society.

The death occurred at Bournemouth of Miss F. O. Hutchison after a brief illness. Deceased was a sister of Dr. J. A. Hutchison, Med. '84, chief medical officer of the Grand Trunk Railway.

H. P. Borden, Sci. '02, has been appointed a member of the Royal Commission which has charge of the construction of the new Quebec bridge.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Roberts, of Brantford, announce the engagement of their third daughter, Winnifreda Louisa, to the Rev. Charles Paterson-Smith, M.A., B.D., Arts '10, curate of Grace Church, Brantford, son of the Ven. Archdeacon and Mrs. Paterson-Smith of Montreal.

Dr. A. S. Gorrell, Med. '00, was last week elected Grand J. of the Grand Chapter of Canada, Royal Arch Masons.

Among McGill men elected to the general council, Canadian branch, St. John Ambulance Association, are the following: Major J. L. Chabot, M.P., Med. '02, Ottawa; Dr. J. A. Hutchison, Med. '84, Montreal; Dr. D. D. MacTaggart, Med. '06, Montreal; Major H. L. Pavey, Med. '03, Ottawa; Major Ira J. Yeo, Med. '08, Charlottetown.

Henry Clarence Hepburn died suddenly on February 19 at his residence in the Lorne Apartments. Deceased studied dentistry at McGill, but was never graduated.

The Royal Military College of Canada

THERE are few national institutions of more value and interest to the country than the Royal Military College of Canada. Notwithstanding this, its object and the work it is accomplishing are not sufficiently understood by the general public.

The College is a Government Institution, designed primarily for the purpose of giving instruction in all branches of military science to Cadets and Officers of the Canadian Militia. In fact it corresponds to Woolwich and Sandhurst.

The Commandant and military instructors are all officers on the active list of the Imperial army, lent for the purpose, and there is in addition a complete staff of professors for the civil subjects which form such an important part of the College course. Medical attendance is also provided.

While the College is organized on a strictly military basis the cadets receive a practical and scientific training in subjects essential to a sound modern education.

The course includes a thorough grounding in Mathematics, Civil Engineering, Surveying, Physics, Chemistry, French and English.

The strict discipline maintained at the College is one of the most valuable features of the course, and in addition, the constant practice of gymnastics, drills and outdoor exercises of all kinds, ensures health and excellent physical condition.

Commissions in all branches of the Imperial army and Canadian Foremost Force are offered annually.

The diploma of graduation is considered by the authorities conducting the examination for Dominion Land Surveyor to be equivalent to a university degree, and by the Regulations of the Law Society of Ontario, it obtains the same exemptions as a B.A. degree.

The length of the course: three years, in three terms of 9½ months each.

The total cost of the course, including board, uniform, instruction, material, and all extras is about $800.

The annual competitive examination for admission to the College, takes place in May of each year, at the headquarters of the several military divisions and districts.

For full particulars regarding this examination and for any other information, application should be made to the Secretary of the Militia Council, Ottawa, Ont., or to the Commandant, Royal Military College, Kingston, Ont.

MISS JAMEISON AT R.V.C.

Told How Varsity Students Had Pledged Themselves To Do Red Cross Work.

The Y. W. C. A. held a profitable meeting in the R. V. C. Miss Baker being in the chair, and after the secretary had read the minutes of the last meeting, she introduced the visitor of the afternoon, Miss Jameison, the travelling secretary of the Students' Association.

Miss Jameison then gave a very interesting talk. She first told about a patriotic league that had been formed among the varsity women students. They pledged themselves, among other things, to devote themselves to their studies, as their first duty to the state, to do a definite amount of Red Cross work every week, and to forego needless expenditure on their wardrobe, and devote what was saved to benevolent purposes. Miss Jameison then went on to give some very carefully considered questions to think about.

Some of these were: Is war a necessity? Which would be the most conducive to peace, a policy of armament or disarmament? How could our legislature benefit humanity in the social and economic sense? Could the war have been avoided if our international relations were based on principles of Christianity? Are our commercial, industrial and social relations based on Christianity? And many other such topics. The time has come for girls and women to stop worrying because they cannot go to war and to consider thoughtfully some of the problems that confront us. Women will have to fill the places of men in the schools, in the churches and in the world. Now is the time when women will have the opportunity of showing how they can best serve their country and humanity, and thus bring the Kingdom of God a little nearer realization.

Test I took a bomb course at the school near the camp.

"On that 'fatigue' we were putting up some wire entanglements right behind the line in a hollow. The 42nd, who were in them, had sent some rapid-fire over at morning 'stand-to' and the Germans began to come back with rifle grenades and trench mortars. There were two killed and about twenty wounded that time. They came trickling down the road for about fifteen minutes. One great, big fellow came galloping down the road with his tunic cut off at the arm. He had a rather severe wound in the shoulder. It was queer to see him tearing about on his own when men with only slight wounds were being supported down.

40 Yards From Germans.

"The next night we went in ourselves to relieve the 42nd. I was feeling pretty strong that night, and loaded up with all the tinned food and stuff that I could get my hands on. It was only about two miles to the fire trench, and we took it slowly and so arrived quite fresh.

"The trenches are almost as quiet as those down by the Somme, and are from 70 to 40 yards from the Germans (about 40 yards we were). They are all built of sandbags on top of the ground. Too much water to dig in. The dugouts were low, so that we just had room to sit, but there was more protection on top in the way of sandbags—a necessary thing up here. There was not a tremendous amount of rifle shooting, as at night you can't see anything, and in the daytime it is too close to stick your head up. So the chief attraction was artillery. About 4 or 5 in the afternoon there was sure to be a show on. There was a little whizz-bang battery behind us whose shells seemed to just skim your roof. We got quite used to it, but visitors passing always made a dive for it as they came over.

The Germans never shelled our trench, as it was too close to theirs; but they used to shell the country behind. One afternoon they put about fifty about one farm house (the one I am in now) without making one hit. Our trench is up on a hill, so we get quite a good view of what happens about us (except on the German side, which is still higher). Another time they tried to shell the trench about 100 yards to our left, where the dividing space is a little wider, but they still seemed afraid of hitting their own and put too much distance, so that the shells all fell about 30 yards behind.

"The ground is pretty soft and full of old sandbags and refuse of all sorts. Every time a shell hit, up the whole works would go, spattering us with mud when she landed in a particularly juicy spot. I went over afterwards and tried to find a nose cap, but had no luck, though one of the other fellows got one.

"We were all issued 'waders'—big rubber thigh boots; but the trench was so dry it was almost unnecessary to wear them. I had them on all the time, though, as I had to go everywhere when on patrol, one place up to the waist.

"The conditions generally have improved very much from last year, and we have nothing at all to complain of. Every morning we rubbed our feet with whale oil and sent down our socks to be washed and dried, getting a new pair in exchange. There was plenty of good food, steak and vegetables, tea, sugar, jam and bread. The only trouble was in cooking the meat, as we could make no smoke, and so had to keep the fires low.

"After we had completed our four days, the 42nd relieved us, and we went back about six miles to rest four days. Then I was attached to the bomb school and learned all about band and rifle grenades.

"It was the second day that my birthday parcel came (18th). Everything was in the best of condition, and my, how it went down! And my socks had been getting rather low, with all the marching and wet weather we have been having.

"On the grenade, there is a handle that you hold close to the bomb. It is held back by a safety-pin when not in use. To throw it you hold it so that the fingers go around the handle, and then pull out the safety-pin, and fire it as far away from you as you can. As soon as it leaves your hand the handle flies back, letting go a striker that sets off the fuse. Five seconds elapse between the time the handle is released and the time she goes off, allowing a throw of 40 to 50 yards. The casing has been nicked with cuts so as to make it break up more easily. The rifle grenade is very much the same, except that it is stuck on the end of a rod that fits in the bore of a rifle for shooting, and that it explodes by percussion on hitting the ground."

AMENDED CONSTITUTION OF MCGILL UNION

The following is the amended constitution of the McGill Union, which has been posted in the Union. For the sake of convenience, amendments have been printed in bold type. Members of the Union are urged to save copies of this for use at the annual meeting of the Union. It should be pointed out that these amendments do not come into force until sanctioned by the Advisory Board.

1.—INTERPRETATION.

(1) The expression "student of the University" means a student registered as a graduate student, undergraduate, conditioned student or partial student.

(2) The expression "member of the University" means a Governor, Principal, Fellow, Officer of Instruction (past or present), graduate of the University, Librarian, Bursar, Registrar or member of the administrative staff whose status is recognized in the University Calendar.

(3) The expression "former student" means any person who, having been an undergraduate for at least one year, has left in good standing. The above interpretations shall prevail throughout this Constitution.

2.—NAME.

The name shall be The McGill Union.

3.—OBJECTS.

The object of the Union shall be to serve as a social centre for all students and members of the University, as a place of wholesome amusement and recreation, and as the headquarters of the various societies and clubs connected with the University.

4.—MEMBERSHIP.

Those eligible for membership shall be:

(1) Active Members.—These shall be all men students of the University who have paid the Universal Fee for the current session.

(2) Associate Members.—These shall be members of the University, or of any College affiliated thereto, and former students who reside within a radius of ten miles from Montreal.

(3) Associate Non-Resident Members.—These shall be members of the University and former students who reside outside a radius of ten miles from Montreal.

(4) Life Members.—Any person qualified to be a member may become a life member by payment of the composition fee provided for by Article 13.

(5) "Foundation Members."—Members of the University who, before the Union was formally opened, subscribed sums of $100 or upwards to the funds of the Union previous to erection, and who have paid this subscription, shall be known as Foundation Members, and shall have all the privileges of Life Members.

(6) Honorary Members.—These shall be men of distinction who may be elected at a General Meeting of the Union or by the House Committee, the nomination having been previously approved by the Advisory Board.

(7) Privileged Members.—Members of other Universities not resident in Montreal, and students of Universities not located in Montreal, may be introduced for a period of not more than two weeks by any member in good standing. The name of such privileged person shall be entered, together with the name of his proposer, in a book provided for that purpose. The proposer of such member shall be held responsible for his conduct and any indebtedness he may incur to the Union. The introduction may be renewed on application to the Secretary for a further period of two weeks, on payment of a fee of one dollar for each such period.

(8) Ladies are not eligible for membership, but may be admitted to the Union from time to time under regulations to be framed by the House Committee.

5.—ADMISSION OF MEMBERS.

Any person qualified to be an active member, an associate resident member, or an associate non-resident member, shall be admitted to membership on payment of the dues hereinafter provided. Associate resident members and associate non-resident members shall apply to the Secretary in writing.

Any person not eligible for membership may be introduced in company with any member of good standing. Any person eligible for membership may be introduced not oftener than once a month.

6.—GUESTS.

The Officers of the Union shall be: Honorary President, President, Vice-President, Treasurer and Secretary. The President, Vice-President and the Secretary shall be active members, and shall not be eligible for re-election. No person shall be eligible to fill the office of President who has not been an active member for two years. The Honorary President, President, Vice-President and Secretary shall be elected by the active, life and foundation members as hereinafter provided. The Treasurer shall be appointed by the Advisory Board from their number, and shall be eligible for re-appointment.

7.—DUTIES OF OFFICERS.

(1) The President shall take the chair at all meetings of the Union. He shall be ex-officio a member of the Advisory Board and of all committees. He shall be ex-officio chairman of the House Committee, and shall, in the absence of directions from the House Committee, have authority over the steward and servants and the general control of the Union premises. He shall report once a month to the Finance Committee, his report having been previously submitted to and approved by the House Committee.

(2) The Vice-President shall assume the duties of the President in the absence of the latter.

(3) The Treasurer shall be the depository of all moneys, countersign all cheques, and shall have direct access to the books of all departments at such times as he desires. He shall have general supervision over all books of accounts. He shall have the power to obtain such assistance from the Assistant Secretary-Treasurer as he may require.

(4) The Secretary shall keep minutes of all meetings, except those of the Advisory Board; shall receive subscriptions for membership, and shall also have charge, subject to the Treasurer, of the general books of account of the Union. He shall report once a month to the Finance Committee. He shall sign all cheques and shall have the power to obtain such assistance from the Assistant Secretary-Treasurer as he may require.

(5) An Assistant Secretary-Treasurer may be appointed by the Finance Committee to do such work as the Committee shall allot to him. He shall also give such assistance to the Treasurer and Secretary as they may require.

8.—STEWARDS.

There shall be a steward appointed by the Finance Committee. He shall have charge under the House Committee of the catering department.

10.—STANDING COMMITTEES.

The Standing Committees of the Union shall be:

(1) The Finance Committee.—This shall consist of the President, Vice-President, Treasurer, Secretary, and in addition one member from the Advisory Board not being the Treasurer. The employees of the house shall be appointed by the President, with the approval of this Committee. The Finance Committee shall once a month receive reports from the President and Secretary which it may amend, and shall homologate the same and embody them in a report to the Advisory Board. The Finance Committee shall also submit to the Advisory Board an Annual Estimate of Expenditure.

(2) The House Committee.—This shall consist of the President, who shall act as chairman; the Vice-President, and seven active members, one from the Faculty of Law, two from the Faculty of Medicine, two from the Faculty of Arts, and two from the Faculty of Applied Science. The House Committee shall have general control of the building, including the catering department, and of the steward and servants. The House Committee shall act on its own resolution, except in matters involving expenditure, any question as to which must either be:

(a) embodied in the monthly report of the President to the Finance Committee and adopted by it and not disapproved of by the Advisory Board, or

(b) notified to the Chairman of the Advisory Board or other member appointed by it for such purpose, and consented to by him.

The House Committee may appoint sub-committees to co-operate with the President in the control of any departments. At least one member of each of these sub-committees shall be a member of the House Committee and shall act as Chairman and shall report to the Chairman of the House Committee at its meetings.

11.—ACCOUNTS.

(1) The general books of accounts shall be in charge of the Finance Committee, and shall be kept by the Secretary under the direction of the Treasurer.

(2) The Secretary shall enter monthly in the general books of account the accounts rendered in the reports of the Secretary, and of the President to the Finance Committee.

(3) The reports involving accounts shall be accompanied by vouchers.

(4) The accounts shall be audited every month by the Auditors to the University.

12.—ADVISORY BOARD.

(1) In addition to these Standing Committees of the Union, there shall be an Advisory Board of seven members, five of whom shall be appointed by the Governors of the University, one appointed by these five, and the President of the Union. All these members, except the President of the University or former students of the University,

(2) The Advisory Board shall elect the Treasurer and one other of its members to the Finance Committee.

(3) Two members of the Advisory Board, taken by lot, shall retire on the expiration of one year from appointment; two shall retire in the same manner on the expiration of two years, and two on the expiration of three years. Members appointed thereafter shall hold office for three years.

(4) Vacancies so occurring and any vacancy caused prematurely shall be filled by the appointment of the Board of Governors. Members retiring shall be eligible for re-appointment.

(a) The Advisory Board shall represent the University in relationship to the affairs of the Union, shall act in an advisory capacity and shall also act as a Court of Appeal from the Standing Committees.

(b) No resolution of the Standing Committees involving expenditure or entertainments open to non-members of the Union shall come into force until referred to and approved by the Chairman of the Advisory Board or other member appointed by it for such purpose.

(c) The Advisory Board shall, whenever practicable, act through the Standing Committees or Officers of the Union.

(d) The Advisory Board may, on its own initiative, consider any resolution of any Committee, and may disallow the same or refer it to the Committee from which it emanated for further consideration.

13.—DUES.

All subscriptions shall be due and paid on or before the 1st of October in each year. On or after the 15th of October in each year the names of all members whose annual subscriptions have not been renewed shall be posted in the Union. Any member whose name has been thus posted shall be debarré from all the privileges of the Union until the subscription has been paid. Subscriptions shall be as follows:

(1) For Active Members, $3.00 per annum, as provided for in the Universal Fee.

(2) For Associate Resident Members, $3.00 per annum.

(3) For Associate Non-Resident Members, $2.00 per annum.

(4) Life Members.—Any member or person eligible for membership may at any time compound for all further annual dues by paying fifty dollars or such sum as shall together with the amount already paid as consecutive annual dues make up the sum of fifty dollars. All moneys subscribed towards Life Membership shall be devoted to the permanent Endowment Fund of the Union.

Any person eligible for membership in the Union, who, before it is formally opened, has subscribed $50.00 or upwards, shall, on payment of this subscription, be held to have fulfilled the requirements of this sub-section.

14.—NOMINATIONS AND ELECTIONS

(1) The annual election of President, Vice-President and Secretary shall be held between the first day of March and the third Wednesday of March, by a ballot of all the Active, Life and Foundation Members.

(2) They shall be nominated by any twenty-five (25) Active Members. Nominations shall be in writing, and shall be deposited with the Secretary not later than 6 p.m. on the tenth day preceding the day of election. The names of all candidates shall be posted by him at least one week before the day of election. The Honorary President shall be elected by the incoming House Committee.

(3) These newly-elected shall assume their duties on the first day of July following their election, and shall hold office for one year. In the event of the resignation or vacancy caused by any other reason in any of the above offices, the House Committee shall decide on the date of the election of a successor, the procedure being the same as in the case of the regular election. The successor so appointed shall hold office until the following first day of July.

(4) The active members of the several faculties shall elect their own representatives on the House Committee by ballot on the second Thursday in October. The nominations in each case shall be handed in by the Tuesday preceding, and shall be signed by ten active members from the respective faculties.

(5) The election shall be by ballot. The ballots shall be printed and supplied through the Secretary, who shall arrange for the conduct of the election. The polls shall be open for receiving ballots between 9 a.m. and 6 p.m. on the day of the election.

(6) The President shall appoint two scrutineers to assist the Secretary in counting the ballots.

15.—MEETINGS.

The Annual Meeting of the Union shall be held within ten days following the third Wednesday in March. Fifty Active Members shall form a quorum for the transaction of business. At the Annual Meeting the Secretary shall present his report for the year.

16.—SPECIAL MEETINGS.

Special meetings of the Union shall be called by the President.

(1) When petitioned to do so in writing by twenty-five active members.

(2) When required to do so by the Finance Committee or the Advisory Board.

At such meetings fifty Active Members shall form a quorum.

17.—AMENDMENTS TO CONSTITUTION.

(1) The Constitution may be amended by resolution passed by a majority of two-thirds of the members present, and voting at the Annual General Meeting or at a Special Meeting called for the purpose, and of which one month's notice shall have been given by posting a notice setting out the proposed amendment on the notice board of the Union, but such amendment shall not come into force until sanctioned by the Advisory Board.

(2) All members of the Union shall be entitled to vote on business other than the election of officers or changes in the Constitution. On these questions only Active, Life and Foundation Members may vote.

18.—PENALTIES.

Any member may be censured, fined or suspended from the Union when, in the opinion of a majority of the members of the House and Finance Committees present in joint session, at a meeting specially called for the purpose, his conduct merits such action.

For expulsion, a majority of three-fourths of the members of these two committees present at such a meeting shall be required.

No member shall be expelled without the opportunity of appearing in person before a joint meeting of these two committees. The member shall have at least ten days' notice of the charge against him, and of the place, date and hour of the meeting, and may be heard in his own defence.

HOUSE RULES.

Only members of the Union shall have access to the Halls of the Union, except that persons not qualified for membership, when accompanied by members, may have the privilege of the building.

(This shall not apply to any room or rooms which may have been granted to any society, while in use for the meeting of such society.)

Persons qualified for membership may visit only once a month, but may attend subscription dances, concerts, etc., held in the building.

The building shall be open during the College year on week days and on Sundays from 7.30 a.m. to 11 p.m.

The billiard room will open at 10 a.m. every morning except Sunday. No game of billiards shall be begun after 10.00 p.m.

All damage to periodicals, furniture or other property shall be paid for by the person causing it, and may be considered cause for suspension or expulsion from the Union.

No profane or objectionable language shall be used in the building.

No betting or gambling shall be permitted in the building.

No meetings shall be held without the consent of the House Committee, and applications for the use of rooms shall be made to the Secretary.

No alcoholic liquors shall be used or served in the building, and no intoxicated person shall be admitted.

Members shall have the privilege of having their mail addressed in care of the Union.

All members in good standing shall be furnished with membership cards. Members shall be required to show their membership cards when requested to do so.

Any transfer of a member's card shall be sufficient cause for expulsion. Members are requested not to give gratuities to attendants; those offending are liable to suspension.

ARCHITECTURAL ASSOC.

Held Monthly Meeting at Residence of Prof. Ludlow.

On Friday evening the Architectural Association held its regular monthly meeting at the residence of Prof. T. W. Ludlow, 846, St. Famille street.

Although the attendance was smaller than usual, a very pleasant evening was enjoyed by all. Prof. Ludlow showed the members several examples of handicraft which he had picked up in different parts of the world, including some very fine Colonial furniture, brass and copper ware of unusual design. Several Princesi etching are also included in his collection and received a great deal of attention from the members present.

Another pleasing feature of Prof. Ludlow's collection is a unique array of old and valuable bottles of pleasing shape and design, some of them very old indeed.

Many other interesting specimens, including Oriental metal work, engravings, prints, embroideries and laces, were shown.

After the meeting broke up, refreshments were served, and the members went home feeling that it was one of the most profitable and interesting meetings of the year.

MEDICAL SOCIETY PRIZES.

Messrs. Goldblatt, Goldbloom, Scholten and McLachlan Submitted Best Essays.

The prizes offered by the Medical Undergraduates' Society for the two best essays submitted to them have been awarded to Harry Goldblatt and Alton Goldbloom, in the senior division, and to E. Scholten and R. M. McLachlan in the junior. The winners of the senior prizes are fifth-year students, and their theses were both of a very high order. Goldblatt wrote on "The Origin of Polypi of the Gastro-Intestinal Tract," with special reference to acute inflammation as one of the causes, while Goldbloom, who gained the second prize, took for his subject "Infectious Diarrhoea and Some Aspects of its Treatment."
